THE OHIO SENATORSHIP.

For the time being Ohio must be counted among the Democratic States. The Governor-elect is a Democrat, and the grounds were radiant with Autumn the next Legislature will be Democratic, which insures the election of a Democrat to succeed Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton, whose term expires one year from the 4th of next March. Mr. Pendleton would like to be his own successor, but his bold and manly stand on civil service and other reform measures has rendered him obnoxious to many of the conspicuous party leaders, and especially so to the Cincinnati Enquirer, the most aggressive and influential Democratic paper in the State. Against all this determined opposition it is not probable that Mr. Pendleton can succeed, but to render his defeat the more certain, party leaders, both in and out of the State, with the New York Sun at the head, have begun to cast about for an available candidate, with their eyes turned toward Allen G. Thurman. The Sun boldly names Mr. Thurman as the man of all men upon whom the party are valued at from $25,600 upward. should unite, but it is not likely that Each one a fortune in horse-flesh. the suggestion will be heeded, for Thurman, like Pendleton; is too much of a patriot and statesman to suit the modern Democratic idea of great men. While Mr. Thurman would undoubtedly accept the Senatorial toga if tendered him without his seeking, he is not, nor will he be a candidate in the popular sense of the term. As there are several other prominent names mentioned in connection with the Senatorship, whose notions of public policy and statesmanship are more in accord with modern Domocratic ideas than either of the gentlemen named, at the proper time Mr. Thurman will probably be conveniently overlooked. Be this as it may, the choice of shelving or retaining Mr. Pendleton is now in the hands of the Ohio Democracy, and if he is to be put aside, there is no man in that State upon whom the honor could be more worthily bestowed, or that would meet with more approval by the country than that of the acknowledged patriot and statesman, Allen G. Thur-

HARD ON BLAINE.

The New York Times says of the South American peace that the people of the United States have a peculiar obligation to be prompt and cordial in their congratulations to the two Republics, at the end of the long and futile haggling over the terms of the treaty. All the misory which Peru has suffered during the lust two years was due in a large part or measure to Blaine's reckless and ceneurable policy of meddling during the period when, to the great danger of this and other Republics in this hemisphere, he held the post of Secretary of State.

Silver in Washington Territory.

There is much excitoment over the recent discovery of a silver mine about two miles from Fairweather, Spokane county, Washington Territory. Many persons have left Cheney and the surrounding country for the new discovery. Experienced quartz men pronounce the mines very rich in silver. Claims are being rapidly located, and a mining camp has been organized.

Now that the result of the Ohio and Iowa elections is definitely settled, politicians and others are anxiously looking forward to the other State elections which take place Nov. but he is very sociable and is a great 6. On that date Massachusetts will elect a new legislature and decide of the Senate. whether it will stand another year of Butler or not. Connecticut will elect a new House of Representatives | his picture is in the national gallery of and half of its Senate. New York will vote on a proposition to abolish it any way. I also saw Secretary Lincontract labor from State prisons, elect a Legislature and State officers below Governor. New Jersey will elect a Governor, a House of Representatives and a part of its Senate. Maryland will elect a Governor, Comptroller, Attorney General and Legislature. Virginia will elect its full Assembly and part of its Senate; Pennsylvania an Auditor General and State Treasurer; Mississippi a tions, when nature invites to be out Legislature. Minnesota will elect a doors, and the tingling excitement of Governor and other State officers, watching the living and vital composiand vote upon three proposed amend- tion of superb strength matched against or honest self respect in making such a ments to the Constitution. #### OUR WASHINGTON LETTER. Races-Personal Notes-Butter.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 15, 1883. EDITOR JOURNAL:-It was a beautiful sight at the Autumn races of the National Jockey Club to-day. We are enjoying our Iudian Summer and this day was the most perfect of the season. The October air was just crisp enough to be enjoyable; the woods which circle colors outlined against the sky, and a mellow and comfortable sunshine sifted down upon everything. There was a crowd of about five thosand on hand including many ladies; a band of music entertained the people during the waits between the races, and the moving crowd about the quarter stretch and betting stands, the jockeys in red, yellow, green and blue silk jackets and caps, the horses spirited and excited, as if aware of the fact that it was festive day, scattered over the track and ambling up and down with elastic step, or speeding over the course like the wind, made up a picture which was very animated and inspiring. Of course the chief interest centered upon the great race of the favorites, all of them horses that have won turf victories at many a hotly contosted race both on foreign and American soil; those horses which numbers at races hereabouts. In fact last Spring, Congress being in session at the time, there was a quorum at the race track and a beggarly array of empty benches in the Senate and House. And to-day, while all the members are not in the city, there was a crowd of notables at the grand stand sufficient to justify the remark that the majority of the representative men were covered by its roof. Of course the most distinguished was our sport-loving President himself. I say this merely as an undeniable truth not as a criticism, for I am only describing a scene, not moralizing, or expressing opinion. He drove out in an open barouche and took his place quietly among the throng. All eyes were bent upon him as he appeared but no demonstration was made. He was fashionably dressed, were s carnation in his button-hole and looked tanned, vigorous, and in good spirits. In any crowd and as a perfect stranger he would have been marked as a fine specimen of manhood. In the midst of a circle of jolly friends whom he entertained with his drolleries, I noticed Representative Cox, of New York, known familiarly as Sunset Cox. Mr. Cox has been in Congress these twenty-five years and it seems to have agreed with him. He is a little man with sparkling black eyes, full of mischief, a face which wears a varying smile, not a cultivated smirk as some faces do, and an air of shrowdness and dash which is his characteristic. He is one of those candidates for Speaker of the next House. Perhaps the most singular and remarkable looking person on the grounds. was Attorney-General Brewster. I cannot make out what age Mr. Brewster belongs to according to dress, but he is certainly not a modern figure. He wore to-day a bell crowned white hat, a yellow vest, ruffied shirt and wristbands, low shoes with white guiters pulled over them and as much jewelry as a Chatman street belle. If through while waiting for the busi- country, and in ourselves for b ng it was not for ihs position and standing ness to be pushed through the Land citizens thereof. ns a legal star, people might think him crazy. favorite on this account on both sides I heard Gov. Ben Butler was on the ground, but I did not see him. But as comicalities, every one is familiar with coln, possible President, a short full set dark man, nothing like his father in anything. Bob Ingersoll, rotund of figure, and redolent of high living and success, shouldered his way through the crowd. Besides all these peculiar characters, there were Congressmen, leading officials, literary men and women, actors, artists and even scholars beyond numbor. I doubt whether anything but a horse race under such pleasant condilev and noticeable crowd.

'Carter," is shouted by a thousand eager throats as the mettlesome and high strung racers appear, still covered by their stall blankets. Like all petted favorites these horses are full of pranks and coqueteries. But they are all beauties, as they pass before the crowd, in high stepping parade, they pretend to be shy, and dance and cavorte and wheel and start and stop by turns, chafing with the jockey's tight rein, which holds their restless strength in curb. The crowd on the quarter stretch is surging to and fro, the sharp call of the auctioneers as they sell bets, becomes more earnest, the betters, themselves, are at the highest pitch of excitement over the chances, the click of the wheels every instant shows the increasing in the mutuals, the bell rings, there is a wild mad shout, every one springs to their feet and the great race is on. Most every one has seen a horse race. The difference between one and another is slight. A few seconds, half a minute, is hardly an observable quan-

The old plugs that hamper along in five minutes seem to go almost as fast as the crack racers which are getting the score down to two. But whoever watched the finish of a race with a quiet pulse? no live man surely. As the four horses in this event turned the last quarter it was still anybody's race. But blood will tell. The final struggle was terrific and the strain on the nerves of the audience could be seen in their faces. A sigh of relief crept over the mighty assembly and ordinary thoughts, passions and sentiments of the human heart, for a moment forgotten, reasserted their powers. Life which was suspended begun again.

Patout Your Rines.

The following words of advice from the Tuscarora Times-Review are applicable to every mining camp in the State: It would be difficult to estimate the time and money expended on mining claims doing assessment work, which is practically lost. Each year so much money must be spent on the claim, and the work is generally done on the most available place and with no particular reference to the systematic development of the property. It is usually done at a disadvantage and is often an absolute injury to the ground, cutting it up to the detriment of any systematic working that may afterward be attempted. After a location has been developed enough to entitle it to a United States patent, the money spent in doing "assessment work" is usually worse than wasted, as it seldom adds anything often lessens it. The same money would obtain a United States title to the claim, which could not be jumpowning at all it is worth being patented. It is a mistake to wait until a "big strike" is made before applying for a Government title. Contests are then sure to arise, and the larger has chosen. But let those who cantrouble and expense of obtaining the pitent, and many sales have fallen Office. If your claim is worth owning "so eccentric you know." This many claims in this vicinity whose platitude must be conceded. Stirring owners have expended three times around among the judges and trainers, the amount of money upon them and talking to everybody was seen the than would have obtained an indisjovial and hearty figure of blue grass putable title for all time. They should at once make applications for patents

BLAINE AND CONBLING.

It is rumored, and we hope the rumor is true, that Blaine and Conkling have buried the political hatchet, and will leaders. This quarrel was simply a detriment to both. Blaine has lost the Presidential nomination and Conkling failed to be returned to the senate after he sudden resignation. The rupture has gone deep down in the vitality of the party, and supped the very sources of its strength. The news that these men will forget their animosities and go into the fight in 1884 side by side, will be haried as an omen of victory throughout the ranks. With Blaine leading one wing and Conkling the other, success in the Presidential election of a name to inspire a larger majority 1884 would be 50 per cent. hetter than of Americans than that of any man it would be with the two factions warring since Washington. Blaine is popular one with the other. It is a matter of vital necessity that such a compact be made, and it can be made with credit to such and the satisfaction of their friends, Neither need rescind an iota of dignity compact, as the success of the party is immeasuarbly superior to their private But now the ringing of the starters no confirmation of this report, and it bell calls the crack horses to the truck. may simply have been thrown out by

THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

An Iswa Decision Which Declares That a State Mas No Bight to Fix the Charges to be Paid Within its Territory Upon an Inter-State Bond. In the Iowa Circuit Court Tusday

Judge McCrary rendered an important decision upon the question of the right of a State to regulate inter-State commerce. The case arose out of a suit against the Illinois Central to recover damages for over-charges upon freight shipped over the company's road from points in Iowa to points in Wisconsin, and originated under the tariff law of 1874, now repealed. Judge McGrary held, in the course of a very able opinion, that if the act in question applied to through shipments, it related to a subject which, in its nature, was national, and that if the power of the State to pass such an act were concolled it would necessarily include the power to discriminate against the commerce of older States, and for these reasons such statute would be in violation of the Federal Constitution. It is not within the power of one State, upon au inter-State line, to fix the charges to be paid within its territory, for that would A Great Musical Novelly! in effect give it the power to demand more than its reasonable share for the entire distance. It would be giving the statutes of a State extra territorial

An Awkward Question

The Utica Herald, which makes considerable pretensions as an authority on philology, coins the word United Statesians to designate the citizens of the republic. This is more explicit than the term Americans, which our countrymen have monopolized, though it is as correctly the property of Mexicans, Brazilians, Canadians, etc., as ours. Nevertheless, the Herald's invention is a little awkward to write and speak, and on this account it can hardly be expected to supplant the term of Yankee, originally applied to New Englanders, but became a common designation for everybody Northern during the war, and in Great Britain is made to cover the "universal Yankes nation." The term that we would all like to have applied who exercise the right to vote and to talk politics is United Statesmen, for such we all are in our own estimation, and also by the authority of the republic, which recognizes all men as equal in political rights and the enjoyment and expression of opinion. If this is not satisfactory, then each citizen is just as entitled as the Utica Herald to select such a to the market value of the claim, and terminology as suits him best. He may follow the Spaniards, the Portugees, Chinese, etc., the Arabs, Hindoos, Polacks, Norwegians, Afed, and after application for patent ghans, Esquimaux, Laplanders, is started further assessment work is Hebrews, French, Swiss, Swedes, not required. If a claim is worth Dutch, Greeks, and we think either termination in the above list could be fitted to the name of our country as elegantly and symmetrically as that which our Uties contemporary the "strike" the greater will be the | not call us Americans or Yankees, recognize us as United Statesmen, and we shall find a new pride in our

Mr. Jacob Reese is credited with having expressed the belief that if it were possible to produce a flameless combustion the intensity and quantity of heat obtained from a given amount of fuel would be greatly increased thereby. Mr. Thomas Fletcher, of Warrington, England, has succeeded in producing a com bustion without flame and lately gave at Owens College a striking practical illustration of Mr. Reese's theory. He directed the flame of a simple gas blowpipe upon a three inch ball of iron wire for a few seconds, and then blew out the flame, The heat rapidly increased and the wire quick-ly melted and ran into drops. He enter the campaign of 1884 hand in hand. Blaine has gained nothing, Conkling has gained nothing and the party has lost the counsel and enthusiasm of two great tained with the first many leaders. This quarral was simple to the country of the count the dark the burning of the gas was shown to be entirely invisible. It appears that flame really indicates an imperfect combustion. BLAINE AND LINCOLN.—There would be a good deal of vitality in a ticket with Blaine and Lincoln at its head. The former is the real leader of the Republican party, and the most magnetic politician in the United States, while the latter bears on the Pacific Coast on account of his advocacy of the act to exclude Chi nese immigration, and is the only prominent Republican in the East, perhaps, who could command the full vote of his party in this State.—S. #### THE RACES.

Jim, Conquest and Black Charley the Winners Yesterday.

The weather was not very pleasant yesterday, and the attendance at the track was correspondingly lower. Neither were the races as interesting as usual. The first race was the mile and a half dash between Jim, Snuff Box and Jubiles, and was won by the former in 2:56, Snuff Box second. The dash of a mile was won handly by Conquest, Fawn second, Baldy Green third. Time 1:54. The third and last race of the day was the trot between Black Charley, Graham, Morgan and Bald Hornet, and was productive of considerable merriment. of Novada, waiving the formality of a competitive examination, appointed the son of General P. E. Connor to the West Point endetship from the Silver State. There were many brighter boys who wanted to go, but they were passed over, and the coveted honor was given to one of such poor ability that when he arrived at the Military Academy he was unable to pass the easy entrance examinations in English branches. There was much comment at the time of the appointment on the partialty shown by the Congressman. Now he writes b.ck to his constituents a letter, in which he says: "My desire is that the boy in Nevada best developed mentally and physically shall have it." It would have been better for his own credit and that of the State if he had followed out this resolution at first, and not so plainly disregarded the customs of the country and the spirit of fair play.—[S.
